

Back to <http://natunenari.net/prose.html> (click on the link)

~Sacred Path Twinsoul Movies and Spiritual Movies~

~Movies are also song of the soul. Here is a list of some twinsoul and spiritual movies that we feel give birth to the heart of twinsoul love of the Sacred Path~

(if you have a movie you would like to add, simply let us know and we will put it on the list, as we update this list frequently)

Cloud Atlas

Beyond Borders

Upside Down

In Your Eyes

Before Sunrise

Walk the Line

Listen to Your Heart

5th Element

The Enchanted Cottage

Splendour in the Grass

City of Angels

Jodhaa Akbar

Veer-Zaara

Rab Ne Bana Di Jodi

http://movies.netflix.com/WiMovie/Rab Ne Bana Di Jodi/70103521?trkid=8152197

The Lake House (2006)

Starring: Keanu Reeves, Sandra Bullock

This movie is all about parallel universes and how we can cross through these parallel points in what we call time here on this earth dimension to embrace the soulful love of OneSoul. One of our most favourites:)

The Notebook (2004)

Starring: Tim Ivey, Gena Rowlands, James Gardner

We just recently saw this movie and found this movie to be such a mirror of this life experience for us. It is a beautiful story of coming together, experiencing the earth dimensional illusions to come into BEing One within Infinity even through a surprise loving ending that will have your soul bursting with such awe and love;) Definitely a most favorite of ours:)

Always (1989)

Starring: Richard Dreyfuss, Holly Hunter, John Goodman

From the moment that we saw it 19 years ago now, we knew that this movie was part of who we are as OneSoul. It is a most beautiful gift of AbSOULute OneSoul Love and that we are free from ever dying for our soul is infinite and we are here to continue to guide our loved ones and to see them flourish even after we have transformed our essence to be free from physically being here any longer. This movie also is Spiritual confirmation that we are more than just a physical body and that our soul's essence can transfer from one physical BEing into another as is evident when Richard Dreyfuss's character's soul is transformed into another physical BEing with whom Holly Hunter's character falls in love with, all the while Richard Dreyfuss's soul within the physical BEing he once was is guiding her. It is simply a beautiful movie and one of our most favorites:)

Deja Vu (2006)

Starring: Denzel Washington, Paula Patton

Parallel Universes, OneSoul Love, and earth dimensional illusions to transform, this movie has all this and infinitely more!:) If you also watch the extra features you will receive a multi~dimensional view of the movie free from being your earth dimensional typical run~of~the mill behind the scenes of a movie.

Premonition (2007)

Starring: Sandra Bullock, Julian McMahon

We just recently saw this movie as well and it is a testament to parallel universes, how we are given the gifts of coming to an inner knowing of something about to occur and how we tend to perceive this as "bad" when within it really is such a gift, a miracle for life and every moment within it is a miracle! This movie has you get in touch with OneSoul love in a way that inspires, moves, and touches the soul:) It is also quite in alignment that we happened to watch this movie in the home we are currently residing in for there are crows here by the hundreds that are around our home and this neighborhood and this movie confirms for us the gift of the crow who is the gift of miracle messages and that if we listen to these messages, these intuitions, these premonitions that they can give us such a beautiful gift in life. Sometimes these messages are given to us free from us being able to "do" anything about them, as in attempting to prevent them, and this movie shows us this and also shows us that even if we are unable to prevent an event from occurring, that there is a gift, a Soul Remembering Through Life Experience for us to Remember, Embrace, and Soulfully Treasure within these premonitions rather than it being about having to "do something to change the events that we are seeing's course". Wonderful and inspiring (In Spirit) movie:) and again you guess it!:) One of our most favorites:)

Music and Lyrics (2007)

Starring: Hugh Grant, Drew Barrymore

Ah yes! This movie is a beautiful gift of seeing the two BEing as One. Within the magic of Hugh Grant and Drew Barrymore on screen melding their souls together, within the music and the lyrics they co~create, and within the Oneness that brings them together. With an 80's inspired comical and yes loving backdrop, We love the sure magic of this movie:) The Troubadour and The Princess of the Sea in lyrical symphony:) And is too One of our favorites:)

The Complete Matrix Trilogy (The Matrix/ The Matrix Reloaded/ The Matrix Revolutions) (2003)

Starring: Keanu Reeves, Carrie-Anne Moss, Hugo Weaving, and Laurence Fishburne

Inspired by the seminar series The Landmark Forum (This movie series, of which the screenplay was written by the Wachowski Brother souls, got its inspiration for this screenplay and subsequent movie, while taking a seminar series called The Landmark Forum that I also experienced as well) this soul evolving series of movies has become a "OneSoul trilogy". Through the breaking of illusions and the transformation of the soul throughout all three movies, to Neo's awakening and Trinity's messages from the Oracle about "The One" within The Matrix, to the "Oneness of AbSOULute Love (soulful love)" within the illusions of saving this earth dimension within Matrix Reloaded, and the melding of The Ego Self of the Soul and the Soul into Oneness and rebirth with Matrix Revolutions, this trilogy has become a mythological story that resonates with all whom watch it and is one of our most favorites. This is a OneSoul movie that will transform you in ways you may have been free from ever imagining.

Serendipity (2001)

Starring: John Cusack, Kate Beckinsale

A OneSoul REALationship movie if there ever was one, addressing the magical first meeting and long, painful illusions we call as separation of these "soul mates" while each are balancing their karma with other mates and searching endlessly for the other. It beautifully portrays the synchronicities and magical messages from the Universe those who have experienced this magic can well understand. This movie to we feel mirrors many of the aspects that we too have experienced in this life experience within our OneSoul Spiritual Journey.

Somewhere in Time (1980)

Starring: Christopher Reeve, Jane Seymour

The beauty of this story comes within a modern day man who becomes compelled and obsessed by a woman in an old painting... remembering her, wanting her, loving her. He manages by love, and sheer force of will and mind to transport himself back to her...

Somewhere in Time. Similar in nature to the parallel universes and love within The Lake House, and we can understand why this movie is a favorite for romantics, lovers and OneSouls everywhere.

Castaway (2000)

Starring: Tom Hanks, Helen Hunt

To some souls this may appear to be an unlikely OneSoul movie... with the concepts definitely there, including the painful loss of a "near OneSoul/ twinflame" or soul mate prior to the meeting with one's true divine OneSoul spiritual partner, and the synchronistic symbols and messages communing forth from this union. Truly inspiring and beautiful:)

The Five People You Meet in Heaven (2004)

Starring: Jon Voight, Ellen Burstien

This movie is one that touches your heart and soul for when I saw it, it reminded us that we are all One. To quote from a reviewer on Amazon.com who wrote this review as if Spirit and I wrote this and in fact if we are all One, then we did as we are all OneSoul, thus here is a beautiful look at this movie through the eyes of OneSoul.... This is a story of a man named Eddie who was shown the secret of heaven: that each life affects the other, and the other affects the next. The world is full of stories, but the stories are all one. The theme of this story is that our lives are free from ever being a waste, even if we believe in the illusion that we are somehow insignificant-and that there are free from being any such things as random acts, because all are connected.

In heaven, Eddie is first met by a man who used to be a part of Ruby Pier's freak show-a man tinted blue by a chemical tincture he drank as a child. The man of blue (brilliantly played by Jeff Daniels) tells Eddie that he will meet five people in heaven, and each will share things which will be a lesson for Eddie. The part that the Blue Man played in Eddie's life was unknown until Eddie arrives in heaven: as a small boy, Eddie was playing ball in the street, and the Blue Man, driving down the same street, swerved to miss him. The Blue Man ended up dying of a heart attack, and Eddie was unaware of his part in the story. When the Blue Man shared what happened, Eddie felt badly-that the accident wasn't fair, and that it should have been him that died. The blue man replies: "There is no fair in life and death. If it were, no good men would die young." Eddie assumes that he will now pay for his "sin" and be judged. The Blue Man dismisses this idea, almost with amusement: "No, no, no.", he says, shaking his head. In heaven, there is no judgment, but rather an opportunity to examine our lives-who we touched, the choices we made, and the consequences of those choices. Eddie is then visited by four more people, in their own unique heaven. Forgiveness is another theme of the story, and the character of Ruby tells Eddie: "Hatred is a curved blade. The harm we do to others is harm we do to ourselves...no one is born with anger. It builds up over time, with the things we don't say and the things we bury. When we die, the soul is freed of it-free to see the truth." The process that Eddie goes through when he dies is consistent with the case studies featured in the books Journey of Souls and Destiny of Souls by hypnotherapist Dr. Michael Newton. No angry God awaits us at the gates of death, but instead, we are met with kind, loving guides and souls-eventually being ushered into a personally designed 'curriculum' for our soul's growth and edification. When Eddie meets his former military captain in his personal heaven the captain says to him: "Time isn't what you think it is, kid. Neither is dying." Also consistent with between-life regression case histories is the ability for souls to change shape (like Eddie's wife did when he asked her to become "old" again), as well as the ability to "choose" your heaven.

The Five People You Meet In Heaven is a story of redemption and personal meaning, as Eddie finally realizes that everything- even difficulties, disappointments, and deaths-happen for a reason. We're also reminded that "all endings are beginnings. We just don't know it at the time..."

Throughout the story, Eddie calls himself a loser, feeling that he did not accomplish anything with his life (like going to engineering school as he planned). He felt alone, and without anything to show for his life. However, at the end of meeting the five people from his life on the Other Side, Eddie is shown the results of his everyday, "mundane" work as an amusement park maintenance man: a sea of people of every age, race, and walk of life that were kept safe over the years by his diligence: "All the accidents he prevented, all the people he kept safe-their children, and their children's children-are because of the things he did day after day." The human search for a sense of meaning and purpose to life is a deep one. Perhaps the first thoughts of the first human were "Who am I? Why am I here?" We're still asking these questions--and desperately looking for the answer. Living in an increasingly complex and stressful era, it's tempting to think that the mundane is meaningless and that life is a random crapshoot. I was deeply moved by this story, reminded that no interpersonal interaction is by chance, and that every cruel, painful, or disappointing situation serves a higher purpose that will someday be explained. The Five People You Meet In Heaven shows that, truly, no life is a "waste", and no life is insignificant. My story is a part of your story, because all of us are connected in the web of life and in Spirit as we are One.

Innocence (2000)

Starring: Julia Blake, Charles 'Bud' Tingwell

This wondrous film is a toast to the infiniteness of AbSOULute Love and the Oneness and passion of the Spiritual BEings we are within human form. Andreas and Claire were youthful lovers separated by parental disapproval (very similar in nature to The Notebook as this movie too experiences this), they went on to marry others and raise families, being free from ever forgetting their passionate love. Andreas is now a widower while Claire is languishing in an enduring, yet loveless marriage to a man who was free from ever really knowing the soul of who she is. Now nearing their 70's, they meet again to find their passion has been free from ever dying, and their love endures and grows ever stronger, to the dismay and amusement of their families. This is an incredible movie about the infinite and ageless love between souls, the illusions of trials and separations and the transcendence and ultimate reunion of two hearts/souls that beat as One. A definite Soul Remembering Through Life Experience in Infinite Possibilities, Manifestation and the Oneness of OneSoul/Twin Soul Love.

Bruce Almighty (2003)

Starring: Jim Carrey, Jennifer Aniston, Morgan Freeman

Bruce's miraculous evolution from the illusions of The Ego Self of the Soul to a man transformed by his spiritual awakening into Oneness and AbSOULute Love will touch your heart, move your soul, inspire the Oneness within you and make you laugh out loud all at Once! Many souls like us, who have experienced this challenging OneSoul/twin soul bond can relate to his girlfriend Grace's tearful prayer to God to be released from this love. So many messages are hidden away in this lovely spiritual movie disguised as a slapstick comedy, transforming The Ego Self of the Soul into the Soul of Oneness and AbSOULute Love, and even the "Dark Night of the Soul" are poignantly portrayed. The big message of the film? ... "BE the Miracle, BE the One." Who says spirituality is free from being hilarious?

Meet Joe Black (1998)

Starring: Brad Pitt, Anthony Hopkins, Fredric March, Evelyn Venable

This movie delves into The Ego Self of the Soul, the experiences of BEing a Spiritual BEing in human form, AbSOULute Love, the gift of life within what we call on this earth dimension as death, and OneSoul REALationships all into One. This movie keeps you guessing and yet also gifts you with the beauties within OneSoul REALationship Love.

What Women Want (2000)

Starring: Mel Gibson, Helen Hunt, Marisa Tomei, Alan Alda, Lauren Holly, Delta Burke, Lisa Edelstein

This romantic comedy is a really big favorite of ours. This movie gets you in touch with your intuition, your female side within balancing of these earth energies, and brings with it a sense of soulful love that moves you. The movie reminds us all to listen to one another intuitively, for we say much more telepathically than we do from our earth orifices!

Field of Dreams (1989)

Starring: Kevin Costner, Amy Madigan, Timothy Busfield, Ray Liotta, James Earl Jones and Burt Lancaster

If you build it, they will come!:) If you listen to your intuition the whole universe you can create! This is another of our most favorite Spiritual OneSoul REALationship movies. From listening to his intuition allbeit earth dimensionally crazy as some may see it, Kevin Costner guides us through a journey that is awe~inspiring. The OneSoul Love between Amy Madigan and Kevin Costner is earth dimensionally tested when at the risk of losing it all (their home, their earth livelihood etc) Kevin's character Ray builds a baseball field and a loving OneSoul REALationship with his father (and other baseball players as well) who are Spirits:) This movie encompasses our love of the game (Baseball ~ of course yet another Diamond!:)LOL!) our love of listening to Divine Guidance, Communication with Spirit, the earth dimensional tests of what we call on this earth as "non~believers" and the OneSoul love that encompasses all of us.

Indigo (2003)

Starring: Dane Bowman, Blu V. Do

This movie is a wonderful testament to the energy of Spirit and how we are One and even though it gifts us with earth dimensional labels called Indigo, this movie shows us the beauty of our Spiritual gifts:)

What the Bleep!?! - Down the Rabbit Hole (QUANTUM Three-Disc Special Edition) (2006)

Starring: Marlee Matlin, Elaine Hendrix

So much to be said about the Multi~Dimensional movie. Pretty much all of this movie upon seeing it first in the theater when it first came out in the theater when I first saw it in 2004 was such confirmation of the channeled messages received within the Stepping Into Spiritual Oneness book which at that moment was in the editing process. Definitely a movie worth seeing and will open your eyes and your soul to awakening to who we are!

The Blue Butterfly (2004)

Starring: William Hurt, Pascale Bussières

I got the opportunity to see the movie in 2006 and it is a wonderful story about exactly what the blue butterfly represents ~ transformation. Beautiful movie:)

The Secret (Original Edition) (2006)

Starring: Esther Hicks, Rhonda Byrne, Hale Dwoskin, Mike Dooley, Bill Harris, Fred Alan Wolf, Dennis Waitley, Marci Shimoff, John F. DeMartini Marie Diamond

I was one of the first to view this movie when it was a small film available online only. And thus, I also am one of the few whom have this original version of The Secret. I am free from needing to share the details of this movie as it is so widely known, and yet, it shows the way of the universe and all of its beauty and how to tap into it. While the movie does refer to this as "The Law of Attraction" and I know through Spirit's wisdom that has been shared with us in channels that within Spirit there are free from being any such things as "Laws" for there is simply a flow to the universe free from any "laws" that much be or must be obeyed for this is The Ego Self of the Soul's earth dimensional terminology, I do believe within this movies' essence and the gifts it brings us all to awaken us to who we are in being co~creators and creators of our life experience.

The Wedding Singer (1998)

Starring: Adam Sandler, Drew Barrymore

This movie has an 80's twist and yet is a gift of OneSoul Love . Through the many earth dimensional trials and tribulations, Adam Sandler and Drew Barrymore show us that OneSoul Love can bridge anything:)

50 First Dates (2004)

Starring: Adam Sandler, Drew Barrymore

Another of my favorites. The chemistry between Adam Sandler and Drew Barrymore is magical, simply magical. The Wedding Singer and this movie 50 first dates really embraces you with OneSoul Love. This movie shows us all that the wisdom I received from Spirit that says that for AbSOULute Love to be experienced through the heart and the soul, we are to fall in love all over again and again and again in each moment and this movie is perfect confirmation of this:) And this is free from meaning just "falling in love over and over again" in romantic love, for although this movie shows us this in the form of OneSoul REALationship romantic love, this can be said for falling in love with any soul, any thing, all of the moments; from a flower, to your favorite movies/music, to your mom, falling in love with all over and over again gifts you with the sense of Oneness Bliss that is of the soul:)

Zeus and Roxanne (1997)

Starring: Steve Guttenberg, Kathleen Quinlan

Ratatouille (2007)

Starring: Ian Holm

Other Movies of Mention which we have seen (and a few we have been free from seeing although very few:!), that we will share our thoughts on at a later moment include:

Jonathan Livingston Seagull

Lord of the Rings trilogy

Something's Gotta Give

As Good as it Gets

The Bridge to Terabithia

Phenomenon

The Fountain

Forever Young

August Rush *

Pleasantville

Sleepless In Seattle

Defending Your Life

Kate and Leopold

Inception

Michael (with John Travolta EXCELLENT MOVIE!!!)

Phenomenon

I Robot

Contact

The Core

When Harry Met Sally

You've Got Mail

Out of Africa

Signs

The Others

The Sixth Sense

Heaven Can Wait

Bridges of Madison County

The Horse Whisperer

Love Story

Ghost

Click

2001 A Space Oddesy

Close Encounters of the Third Kind

Cocoon and Cocoon The Return

Star Wars (All Six movies)

The Holiday

Life As a House

The Ultimate Gift

The Philadelphia Experiment

Kiss Me Goodbye

Groundhog Day

My Life

Family Man

Message in a Bottle

Deep Impact

The Time Machine

Falling In Love

Constantine

Speed

Point Break

MIB and MIB II (Men in Black and Men in Black II)

Avatar

The Others

Transformers and Transformers II

Hitchcock

Just Like Heaven

Independence Day

Made in Heaven

Harry Potter Series

Chronicles of Narnia

Avatar The Last Air Bender (Animated TV Series different than the movie Avatar)

Lord of the Rings Series

Conversations With God the movie (based on Neale Donald Walsch's life and also about CWG the book series if you have been free from reading CWG series I would recommend it)

The Shift (or aka Ambition to Meaning Wayne Dyer)

One

Celestine Prophecy

Any of Wayne Dyer's DVD Series's like The Power of Intention, Excuses Be Gone, Change Your Thoughts Change You Life

The Last Mimzy

Anything from Spiritual Cinema it is a monthly movie DVD program that gives you spiritual movies each month, totally worth it! ~ Have you heard of them?

Check them out here <http://www.spiritualcinemacircle.com/?af=29204>